The Winery

We're an urban winery in San Diego producing unique, craft sparkling and still wines from local vineyards. We use natural fermentation and minimal intervention. So, what does that mean?

Urban. We're a fully functioning winery - just located in the city instead of the country.

Unique. Each of our wines reflects the individuality of its origin - and is unlike any other.

Craft. We're small, independent, innovative, and care about everything we make.

Sparkling. We make a lot of sparkling wines that are delicious and unlike traditional Champagne or Prosecco.

Local. We source from vineyards in San Diego County - the oldest and newest wine region in California.

Natural & Minimal. Natural, native yeast, and as little processing as possible to preserve the wine's natural character.

The People

Charlie

Charlie has travelled the world.
Bargained in exotic bazaars.
Been inked by an octopus.
Stared down machine gun yielding militias.
Eaten boa constrictor.
She's the most interesting woman
in the world.

Clara Van Drunen

Funny part is, that's all true.

Echo

Echo is a physics
grad school drop-out.
He used to study charmonium.
He used to be smart.
Now he makes wine.

Eric Van Drunen

Again, that's all true.
Just not nearly as interesting.
